The University of Tokyo offers only one scholarship to international students. There are some other scholarships provided by private foundations but they are mainly available for the regular students in master's or doctoral course. Also, the capacity of our International Lodges is not enough for all international students.

The cost of living in Japan is very expensive. The average living cost per month for international students is about 130,000～140,000 yen, including the rent, food, gas, water and transportation, etc. Before entering the University of Tokyo, please make a financial plan to ensure that you can cover the cost of your living here.

Besides these living costs, you have to pay 200,000～300,000 yen for deposit and key money for renting the apartment, around 260,000 yen for admission and tuition fee. Therefore, you need at least 1,300,000 yen for the first 6 months of your study in Japan.

* Please explain your financial plan for supporting your living in Japan either in English or Japanese.